

MICHAEL McKERNAN

About Michael

Michael is a historian working in the field of Australian social and military history. He has worked as an academic, museum administrator and battlefield tour guide but he always returns to writing history. It seems to be a compulsion. He has written about war and the homefront, about rural Australia and drought, about sport and religion, and prominent Australians. He is a regular book reviewer and commentator and a popular public speaker.

Michael will present a Keynote address. His topic is:

Meeting People at War: writing war on the home front
